The dinosaur show is finally over, and it was a pretty good show for us even though it was only four days. The dinosaurs are being moved out, and the Muzzle Loaders are finally getting their range and campground back. Even though we had a lot of car traffic during the event, other venues were also open and making money too. Hunter's sight-in was a big success, thanks to Rob Bauer and his range safety officer volunteers. This was the first time in a long while that we allowed non-members to come in without a member and sight-in. Many thanks to all of the volunteers who helped with this event. The Action Pistol Range was also very busy with many matches being held during that time. Many thanks to all of the APR volunteers as well. Volunteers are very important to this club, and we appreciate all of the efforts and talents that they bring to us.

We had a Euchre party at the Club, and it was a big hit. We are going to try to have it every Thursday night at 6:00 PM, if possible. We are still working on getting the Key Card situation straightened out, and we are working daily with Guardian Alarm. Mike Stailey, 1st VP, has been working every day on getting this problem resolved.

It is getting close to election time, and if you are interested in any of the positions at the club, please step up and apply for Executive Board, Board of Directors, or Committee positions. Thank you all for your support in all projects at OCSC, and I look forward to seeing you around the Club.

Greetings to all OCSC members, and warm wishes to you and your families for a joyous holiday season.

I have good news to share regarding the key card access system. We have identified the previous issues that caused some cards to malfunction. The club has now purchased new key cards compatible with our access system, and we will be developing a rollout plan in the near future to distribute these to members who wish to take advantage of the excellent facilities OCSC provides.

Both Archery and Shooting competitions are in full swing for December. On the Archery side, the Northern Regional Indoor Championship will take place on December 6 and 7. For our shooting enthusiasts, PPC continues to run strong on Mondays and Thursdays. IDPA/USPSA indoor Saturday practices are underway, along with ongoing Bowling Pin shoots. Steel Challenge matches will also be held throughout the winter months of 2025 and 2026. Be sure to take advantage of these excellent activities offered here at OCSC.

I'm also pleased to announce that our Club Manager, Paul Biediger, has launched Thursday Euchre Events. This is a great opportunity to enjoy the club's bar and restaurant while spending time with fellow members who enjoy playing Euchre. Please check the club website calendar for dates and registration details.

Looking forward to seeing you at the club!

The Dinosaur Forest had a poor showing of volunteers. Although the club did make a profit.

I do want to thank the volunteers who showed up for the event.

The next item I want to discuss was the meeting of the quarter midgets in the main club. Some members brought their young children and left them unsupervised, which created havoc in the bathrooms, along with running helter-skelter through the club area. Jessica Botha did apologize this evening and said it would not happen again.

OCSC MUCC Update

Greetings fellow club members. As I write this article for our December magazine, it's just prior to Thanksgiving and firearms deer hunting season is underway (no big buck yet, just a doe with a bow). I have much for which I am thankful, including Oakland County Sportsmen's Club and my relationship with those of you that I know.

At last month's General Membership meeting, one of you posed the question, "when will we be able to hunt Sandhill Cranes?" My response included an inaccuracy that I will correct here. I said that Sandhill Cranes are in fact hunted in many states (true) and that the number of states could be as many as half the country (false). The actual number of states in which Sandhill Cranes are classified as a game bird and can be hunted is 17. It is possible that Michigan could be added to that number.

Sandhill Cranes are the largest birds in Michigan (by size) and stand 5 feet tall with a wingspan of over 6 feet. They can weigh as much as 14 pounds. They are the oldest living bird species on earth. Here's some information on the Sandhill Crane from the Cornell Lab of Ornithology (ebird.org):

Sandhill Crane (Antigone canadensis) – Large, long-legged bird shaped much like a heron. Gray body, sometimes with intense rusty staining. Adults have red crown. Often in large flocks at migration and wintering concentration points. Favors marshes and agricultural fields where they eat primarily grains. In flight, neck is outstretched, unlike herons with tucked necks. Snappy wingbeats. Listen for far-carrying bugling call. Designated a "species of least concern".

My personal experience (which I think mirrors many others') is that I didn't see any Sandhill Cranes in Michigan 20 years ago. Then I started seeing (and hearing) more every year. Now, I feel like I see them almost daily! And I've been to places (Fish Point and Shiawassee) where I believe I have seen a thousand in a day! My point is, it's obvious the population in Michigan has grown over the past several decades. It seems to me that the numbers could support a sustainable harvest. I'll leave that to biologists to confirm, but I support it. Those familiar with eating these birds say they are delicious, thus the familiar nickname "ribeye of the sky".

Current status in Michigan includes very recent news. In September of this year, Michigan House Bill 5067 was introduced and referred to the Committee on Natural Resources and Tourism. This bill would establish an open hunting season for Sandhill Cranes. If passed by the House and Senate and then signed by the governor, the Natural Resources Commission would have to request and receive approval from the US Fish and Wildlife Service to have a season (they'll get it) and then the NRC would have to establish the regulations and season dates. I'll track it closely and follow up with you. What are your thoughts on allowing the hunting of Sandhill Cranes? Please let me know.

Kind regards,

Sticky Tires News: November

Thank you to everyone who made the 67th year of racing at Waterford Road Racing a success. This season brought in many new members, improved facilities, and our banquet was a wonderful way to celebrate the year. Congratulations to Anthony Biondo as our #1 driver of the year and to the rest of our top ten drivers and class champions. We all know that running any events at volunteer organization takes a lot of coordination and people. Running the racetrack is not any different. We have a count of more than 100 volunteers that helped out this year not to mention crew members and families as well. We also extend special thanks to OCSC for providing the concession stand. Hopefully that brought them a lot of revenue.

Looking ahead, January marks the start of membership renewal. Make sure you renew OCSC by the end of February to avoid the trouble of late fees. It makes it much simpler for WHRRI membership to process your license as well.

To all WHRRI members: please come out to the club (WHRRI General Membership Meeting 1st Wednesday of each month at the club house; except December), use the range, volunteer, grab some food, or do all three. Remember that your OCSC membership is for more than just racing — make the most of it when you renew each year.

Check the Archery website for event times and range closures at: Archery Events or Archery Facebook or JOAD. Speaking of range closures...

The Indoor Range Wall workbee is December 27 at 8 am. We are looking for help to make new screens, repack bails, and replace any damaged framing. Come on out and give a hand.

We are still looking for a league secretary for the Traditional League, either mornings or evenings. Also, we are looking for a volunteer or two to vacuum the indoor range once a week during winter leagues. All of these are good ways to get in your work hours.

If you are having issues getting into the Archery building with your card key, contact the club office for a replacement. Guardian system hardware flash invalidated some cards.

I would like to wish you and your family a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

Sincerely,

John Borth
